Progress for women could be bad for terrorists

Two events within one month.

1) The Secretary of Defense opened all military positions to women.

2) A military judge ruled that female MP guards are not allowed to shackle detainees at Guantanamo.

The reasoning for the judge's ruling was that a Muslim man would be offended by being touched by a woman not his wife.

Apparently that same man would not be offended if shot in battle by a female sniper.
