Invest in 'forever' stamps

Need a place to put your money now for future return with current inflation? Postage stamps pay the surest benefit.

Five years ago, a first-class letter cost 50 cents. Next year it will be 68 cents. Therefore, if you buy every "forever" stamp you can afford today, in the future you will be awash in net worth as they rise. Years from now you can: sell them below market and still make money; give them as an inheritance to appreciative offspring who will think of you every day they send a letter; donate them to a charity and deduct the value at the time of the gift, not what you paid for them.

You're welcome.
