Public schools need proper financial support

Perhaps you have seen that the Coca-Cola company is no longer going to produce Tab cola.

Tab's sales declined over the years because it was no longer given the financial support it needed. The same could happen to our schools if they lose the money needed for them.

The Austin socialists' push to spread the wealth and send our public school tax money over to rich private charter schools may succeed. If it does, then our middle class kids will suffer.

If we do not keep our current school system, it too will go the way of Tab.
